THE PERTH AGREEMENT · STUDENT CIRCLE

How to take part in 2 minutes

> Should every person on Earth be assured at least one nutritious meal every day?

What it is

The Perth Agreement is a global conversation, started in Perth, Western Australia, that puts this one question to students around the world for their ideas, their critique and, in time, their leadership. We are inviting universities and student representative bodies in 192 countries, and 228 have been contacted so far. Nobody needs to wait for an invitation. Taking part means sharing ideas. Nothing more is asked, there is no cost, and taking part is not an endorsement.

Three ways to take part

1. With your invitation code: enter it at circle.theperthagreement.com and share your student body's ideas, with up to three documents attached.
2. As individuals: anyone can share ideas on the same page. No code is needed.
3. Not invited yet? Register your university or student guild at circle.theperthagreement.com/how-we-invite.

The easiest first step

Reply with one question or one idea. Any language is welcome.

Good to know

- Ideas are checked against our publishing rules before they appear, and are then public. An email address is never shown.
- A suggested timetable works towards a proposed signing in August 2027.
